County of Bates. In the circuit court of Bates County Missouri, in vacation, January 15th, 1901. The state of Missouri at the relation and to the use of A. B. Owen, exofficio collector of the revenue of Bates county in the state of Missouri, plaintiff, vs. A. A. Vaughn, W. F. Vaughn, C. A. Allen and The Walton Trust Company, defendants. Preparations are being made by many mormons with plural wives to resume living together in one large family.

The Gentiles voted solidly against the bill, but the Mormon interests are in a majority in both houses.

The Verdict is Valid,

Chicago, March 6.—The appellate court decided yesterday that trial udges may take short naps during the progress of a case without endangering the validity of the verdict. This was decided in a case appealed by the street railway company in which a teamster had been awarded $7.500 damages against it and Judge Stein had slept.

Civil action for delinquent taxes.

Now at this day comes the plaintiff by her attorney before the undersigned clerk of the circuit court of Bates County, in the state of Missouri, in vacation and files her petition and affidavit, stating among other things that the above named defendants, A. HIGHEST TYPE OF GIRL.

The One Who Is Fine Mannered and Tucker, Always Keeps Within Herself.

Julia Ward Howe, famous the world over as the author of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and for her promin Success her conviction that the representative twentieth century American girl will be the highest type of girl the world has seen. But she also sounds a note of warning as to the cultivation of fine manners:

"In this matter of manners, we have not advanced during the last half century. We Americans do not give man- all insurgents on the Island of Cebu. ners the attention they deserve. Abroad, we are acquiring the reputation of being the best dressed people in the world; but about our manners, which are even more important than dress, there is often a polite but significant silence. Our educational systhem should take more account of deportment, which, in large measure, is expressive of what we represent. The social atmosphere is warmed by the enthusiasm of youth. We admire and even envy the overflowing vitality of the healthy girl. But when the outpouring of this enthusiasm and vitality becomes forgetful of the feelings and opinions of others, the line between good manners and bad is crossed. Young women who are fond of outdoor sports, who can do as well as men numerous things that, in the past, men alone did, and women who are successfully competing with men in the business or the professional world, exult in the power and freedom which their mothers did not have. This is excel lent, but these progressive women are in danger of offending good manners, by giving their exultation and their own personalities too great an emphasis. Some of them feel that their sturdy work, or play, is too engrossing to give them time for the delicate amenities and little niceties of social life, that in my youth were held in such high es-

Fashions in Wrappers.

Time was when the wrapper played such an important part in the comic papers and was such an untidy garment that it was banished from any correct outfit; but the dainty wrapper of to-day and the pretty matinees make a charming style of morning dress and one that is comfortable and appropriate. The kimono and such flowing garments should be relegated to the bedroom, but a pretty wrapper, with a fitted lining, may have loose fronts and a watteau plait in the back, and yet not look in the least untidy or too negligee. The crepons, eashmeres, challies and India silks are all good for these wrappers, especially in light colors. White is the smartest, of course, but soils too easily to make it practical for the majority of women. White lace should be used in trimming all wrappers, for so soon as it becomes in the least soiled it may be taken off and washed or cleaned, and in this way is a much better trimming than ribbon or chiffon, which rarely look
